Why be generous? God’s generous to us!

“Building A Culture of Generosity” is this year’s Stewardship Focus

Building a Culture of Generosity is the theme of our fall stewardship appeal. This theme points us to the generosity that we have witnessed around our church over the last year, but also points us to know that we can grow into this in even more profound ways.

Our grateful response in generosity helps to demonstrate to us and to the world around us that in fact God has provided us everything and we have enough, even enough to share.

You will be receiving a giving intent/pledge form the week of October 18th. We invite you to prayerfully consider and return your pledge on Consecration Sunday, October 31st. Weekly bulletin inserts, e-mails, and generosity moments will be a part of worship each week in October.

Many thanks to the leaders of our Stewardship Program this year:
Wendy and Jim Haas; Dan & Cheryl Stefanski; Bob Yersin; Kathy Wakefield
From the Pastor’s Pen…

We want you to know, brothers and sisters, about the grace of God that has been granted to the churches of Macedonia:

for during a severe ordeal of affliction, their abundant joy and their extreme poverty have overflowed in a wealth of generosity on their part. –2 Corinthians 8:1-2

Dear friends~ Where did you learn about generosity? Who has helped teach you and shape your practices on how to be generous?

I’m not sure I ever had a “values chat” with my parents where they taught me, “Be generous, Matthew.” I’m positive I never had a generosity question on my quizzes in confirmation. I’m guessing that I picked up the value of generosity by watching, passively noticing the financial generosity of my grandparents and the generosity of time from volunteers in my community.

Yet it wasn’t until I was in high school, where I found my life transformed by my stint in the Minnesota All-State Lutheran Choir, where I understood the impact of generous hearts and the blessings that one’s financial gifts could make. The choir was the first place I experienced personal and authentic Christian community; it was part of my call story in becoming a pastor. It was a safe space as I navigated the challenges of adolescence and learning who I truly was. And each night, in the midst of our concerts, our leaders would share about how this program didn’t just create good music, but transformed lives.

And my life was being transformed. My life had been altered by the generosity of the people who came before me.

It was a no-brainer, when I brought home my first high-school paychecks, that I would give to support the ministry of the choir. If I could help support others being shaken and changed by God’s love and acceptance, the way I received the Spirit’s help. I don’t remember what amount I gave, but it was more than I expected I would. Experiencing grace and transformation made me generous for the sake of creating space for that to happen to more people like me.

This month, we enter a season of stewardship focused on “Building a Culture of Generosity.” I encourage you to reflect on the experiences of your life that have nurtured your own generous hearts, and to consider how the transformation and grace you have encountered at Adoration are important to sustain into God’s future for our congregation! May your generosity be stirred up in this season, that the ministry of Adoration be sustained and deepened!

God’s peace, Pastor Matt

ADORATION FELLOWSHIP OUTING: Steel Magnolias

Come join your fellow Adorationers for an EXCITING and FUN night out! STEEL MAGNOLIAS (the play) at The Milwaukee Repertory Theater in November

“In Chinquapin, Louisiana everybody who is anybody gets their hair done at Truvy’s beauty shop—where the women are all sass and brass. Through clouds of hairspray and over the buzz of blow dryers, six southern spitfires gather each week to gossip and support each other through thick and thin. But those bonds are tested when the ladies face a life-changing event. Infused with heart and humor, Steel Magnolias is a hilarious story of love, loss, and enduring friendship.”

A sign up sheet will be coming soon.
A Generosity Challenge

A generous challenge gift has been made to kick off our drive this year. $2200 has been given as a challenge to the congregation! For 2022, Our goal is to have 22 pledgers increase their giving from last year. When we get 22 first-time or increased pledges, this generous challenge gift will be added to our total! Pledge forms will be shared in mid-October. Consecration Sunday will be held on Sunday, October 31st.

Explore the Bible This Fall

Join Pastor Matt this fall for a special Bible study aimed at exploring the themes of the bible and how we might use it to find meaning and connection with God in our lives.

Starting Sunday, October 24th from 10:15—11:15, we’ll gather (in person or on Zoom) and explore the stories that define our faith, and discover how we might find ourselves captivated by the stories of scripture again! We’ll use Rachel Held Evans’ book, Inspired. You can buy a copy at your leisure. Please join us after worship and explore the book of our faith!
